

Dots and Boxes

Players take turns drawing a single line between two adjacent dots. Lines can go up, down, or sideways. No diagonals.

When the fourth side of a box is drawn, the player claims the box by writing an initial inside and then takes another turn.

Play continues until all boxes on the grid are filled. When no more lines can be drawn, the game ends.

